

400 PENNSYLVANIA MINERS ENTOMBED

AWFUL EXPLOSION SHOOK THE EARTH BEFORE CATAclysm

Warning the Surrounding Neighborhood That Another Awful Catastrophe Had Occurred.

NO ATTEMPT TO RESCUE THE MINERS

As Dense Volumes of Smoke Drive Back Brave Men Who are Volunteering to Recover The Bodies of Entombed Men.

Connellsville, Pa., Dec. 19.—Four hundred miners are entombed in the Darr mines of the Pittsburg Coal Company at Jacobs creek, eighteen miles west of here. Of these 400 men fully 100 are Americans, the rest Hungarians. A terrific explosion shook the vicinity of the mine at 11:30 o'clock this noon and announced to all the surrounding community that a great convulsion of some kind had occurred down under the earth's surface. Shortly after the explosion smoke began to issue in heavy volume from the mouth of the mine, which is of the slope variety. The mouth of the mine was wrecked and this circumstance in connection with the smoke and fire which was discovered to be raging inside, prevented effectually, up to 1 p. m. all attempts at rescue of the imprisoned men. The building of the Federal Supply Company which is adjacent to the entrance to the mine, was slightly damaged by the force of the shock.

Among those imprisoned are Pit Boss O'Connell and two fire bosses. On account of the violence of the explosion and presence of fire it is not thought there is much chance for the men inside. Whether they have perished or will survive is one of the uncertainties of the present hour.

"NEEDLE WOMAN" IS NOW DYING FROM OPERATION

WHICH IS THE TWENTY-SIXTH THAT HAS BEEN PERFORMED UPON HER.

A Year Ago She Swallowed Twelve Dozen Needles With Intent to Commit Suicide.

New York, Dec. 19.—Mrs. Molly Desmond, known to the surgical circles in Manhattan and the Bronx as "The Needle Lady," from the fact that she swallowed 12 dozen assorted needles a year ago with suicidal intent, is dying in Fordham Hospital. She underwent her 26th operation for the removal of needles from her system four days ago, and has failed to rally from succeeding complications.

It was despondency over matrimonial troubles that prompted Mrs. Desmond to take a dose of needles in the first place. She was operated on at Fordham Hospital and something like 100 of the little pieces of steel were removed from her stomach. The others had gone on their way, and the surgeons hoped that nature would take care of them.

Nature took care of the needles and disappointed the surgeons at the same time. About three dozen of the smallest needles got into Mrs. Desmond's blood and took tours through her circulation system.

She has spent most of her time in the last year in Fordham and Bellevue

Hospitals under the care of surgeons. With the aid of the X-ray and powerful magnets needles were located and drawn from her skin and tissues. Three were taken from the region of her heart. About a month ago, following an operation, the medical men told Mrs. Desmond that they had accounted for all but eight of the 141 needles she had swallowed, and that the remaining balance would probably not bother her.

Only last Saturday morning she was suddenly afflicted with acute pains in her stomach, and lost no time in going to Fordham hospital. As soon as possible the doctors placed her under the influence of ether and began to probe for needles. They opened her abdomen and searched with electric lights, X-rays and magnets in vain. Not a trace of the eight needles could they find.

The incision was sewed up and Mrs. Desmond was told that the trouble some needle had been removed, because the doctors had found no sign of any disorder that could have caused the pains. They believed that if she was convinced she was rid of all the needles she would get well.

On Monday night she began to cough, and before the paroxysm had passed she had torn loose the stitches remaining from the operation of Saturday.

Another operation was found necessary and Mrs. Desmond has since been hovering on the border line of death.

BOUND

The Twelve Helpless Captives, and the Cruel Yaguis Used Them For Targets.

Nogales, Ariz., Dec. 19.—Information which has just reached here tells of the frightful murder of 12 men by a band of 150 Yaqui Indians 45 miles south of Magdalena, State of Sonora, last Wednesday. P. J. McIntyre and a party of mining men of this section have arrived from the scene, where they viewed the remains of the murdered men.

The Yaquis captured the party of 13 men. Among the number was Jose Fernandez, son of President Fernandez of the town of Cucurpe, and owner of the Mesal plantation where the killing occurred. The others were Mexican laborers on the ranch and some Canaan miners looking for work.

One American was among the number, but he was rescued by men who told him that they were Americans. The remaining 12 were stripped naked, stood up against trees and shot through the head. A band of Yaquis is reported to be on the warpath.

TO EXPEL JEWS FROM RUSSIA IS THE ORDER

Vladivostok, Dec. 19.—Expulsion of all Jewish residents of Vladivostok is to be rigorously enforced under the terms of yesterday's order by the commandant. The authorities blame the Jews for the recent mutinies and say they have reason to think fresh disorders are being fomented. The town is under martial law and the commandant has authority arbitrarily to drive out any individual he may see fit without especial sanction from St. Petersburg.

Jewish residents are disposing of their property at an immense sacrifice, purchasers realizing they must either relinquish it for what they can get or abandon it altogether.

SUEZ CANAL MAY BE USED FOR RETURN

OF ADMIRAL EVANS' BIG FLEET MAKING VOYAGE OVER 40,000 MILES.

ENTIRELY ROUND WORLD

Wireless Messages Caught From the Fleet Tell of Its Interesting Maneuvers.

Chicago, Dec. 19.—Uncle Sam's fleet of battleships is to return from its Pacific cruise via the Suez canal, according to a wireless message to the Tribune from the battleship Louisiana. This dispatch says Admiral Evans made the announcement on authority of President Roosevelt at the ward room dinner Monday night. This is the first definite news of the plans of the "battle fleet."

For the fleet, or half of it, to make a voyage around the world would be a naval feat unsurpassed in the history of the world. It would mean a voyage of more than thirty thousand miles. The trip to San Francisco over the ordinary Suez route would be: San Francisco to Hong Kong 7,000; Hong Kong to Singapore 1,440; Singapore to Colombo 1,500; Colombo to Aden 2,100; Aden to Port Said 1,145; Port Said to Gibraltar 1,200; Gibraltar to New York 3,202. The only program that had been announced heretofore was that the fleet was to proceed to Magdalena Bay, lower California, arriving there, according to the schedule, March 14. After a month's target practice and evolutions, the fleet was to proceed to San Francisco. What the fleet was to do after that was problematical.

CAT SUCKED BREATH OF FIVE INFANTS; TWO CANNOT LIVE.

Gladstone, Mich., Dec. 19.—Two children of Mr. Clarence Stearns, a farmer living near this village, are dying and three others are seriously ill due to a cat having "sucked their breath" when they lay asleep in bed. The father in the dim light, saw the family cat sitting on the child's breast, its nose close to the babe's lips. The cat's claws scratched the child's breast as the father drew it away. Going to the bed of the other children he found that the cat had sucked the breath of all and that two were so ill it was necessary for him to hitch up his horses and drive to the village for a doctor. The latter says they cannot live.

A fist fight between the two followed, which required six congressmen to stop. Williams was taken to his room with blood streaming down his face, DeArmond having gotten in a vicious blow that opened the cheek several inches.

DEEP SLEEP

OF MERTIS WRIGHT COMMENCES AGAIN AFTER SHORT WAKING PERIOD.

Unfortunate Young Man is Slowly Wasting Away and Death Will Soon Relieve Him.

Mertis Wright has fallen into the deep sleep from which it is impossible to awaken him, and although this time he regained consciousness for several days, he sunk into a deep sleep two days ago and efforts to awaken him proved unavailing.

His parents' decision to move from the home at 190 North Fourth street to 20 North street, interested him, and he remarked to his grandmother that he would try to keep awake until they moved. Shortly after that, when the family returned to his room, they found him again in his peculiar condition that has baffled his physicians.

It was necessary to call the ambulance of Criss Bros. & Jones to move him from the old home to the new, where his death will probably occur as he is steadily growing weaker.

IMPORTANT IS MEETING OF MINERS

STRONG HOPES ARE EXPRESSED THAT AN AGREEMENT CAN BE REACHED.

OPERATORS ARE WILLING

To Listen to Any Proposition the Miners Have to Make at Indianapolis Conference.

Indianapolis, Dec. 19.—With strong hopes on the part of both operators and miners that some sort of an agreement would be reached, the joint meeting of the mine officers' and operators' committee began here today. The purpose of the meeting is to decide whether an interstate agreement shall be restored. This meeting is probably the most important labor and capital gathering held this year, because upon its outcome depends the question of the biggest labor strike with which this country has ever been menaced. All contracts of the United Mine Workers of America with their employers expire simultaneously next April. This would mean in case of a strike which the leaders of both sides hope to avoid, that practically every coal mine in this country will be closed. There are 375,000 union miners and all industries would be seriously affected if fuel cannot be secured. The operators announced this morning that they were ready to listen to any proposition the miners have to make. The meeting is behind closed doors.

TWO ATTEMPTS

Made at Suicide, But Now Absconding Treasurer is Resigned to His Fate.

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 19.—After two attempts at suicide and one at escape, absconding treasurer William F. Walker of the Savings Bank of New Britain, Conn., seems resigned to his fate. He denies his guilt, but admits his identity, and is now on his way with Superintendent Bailey of the Pinkerton Agency from Escondido, lower California to Los Angeles. From here he will be sent east to answer the charges of embezzling more than $320,000. When found he was practically penniless.

SECOND TRIAL OF BEN DICKERSON

Judge E. M. Wickham will go to Coshocton Saturday to pass upon the motion for a change of venue in the Ben Dickerson murder case. The attorneys for both the State and defense are said to have agreed that the best city for the trial, in case the trial is sent away from Coshocton, is Newark, but others are said to favor Millersburg.

The Coshocton papers point out the fact that much greater expense would follow the removal of the trial to Millersburg and say that Newark is the best city to select, everything considered. Nearly 100 witnesses will testify in the case which will probably occupy two or three weeks.

MUST MOVE A DOG FROM BURIAL LOT SAYS THE COURT.

Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 19.—In obeying the stern command of the Court of Appeals, Alice Riddle, W. C. Hansborough and Ada Hansborough, will have to move from their lot in the Cave Hill cemetery at Louisville, the ashes of a little pet dog, which was buried in the family burial lot several years ago. The Court of Appeals Wednesday said that the Cave Hill cemetery is a place set apart for the burial of white people and says that although the freakishness of an animal being there is a desire to bury a dog in the family lot, then there is no reason why some other person equally freakish should not desire to bury a bull, a cow, a donkey or any other kind of an animal in their family lot, and if the dog is permitted to remain undisturbed, then there is danger of the cemetery becoming a depository of animals.

Serges are going into tailormades. With serge there is always apt to arrive the vogue for velvet trimmings, or at least for velvet in collar and cuffs, and this is no exception this fall.

White Women In Africa. The attitude of the African native to the white woman is best described by Miss Werner herself:

"I never met with the slightest rudeness or disrespect from the natives and do not believe that, as a rule, any woman would unless she gave them cause. Of course in town and military camps, where they have seen so much of Europeans, it may be different, as to some extent it is different in Natal, though I must say I never met with any unpleasant experiences in the latter country."

Her Work In England. Before she returned home Miss Werner paid a visit to Miss Colenso at Natal, where she took up the study of the Zulu languages. At Bishopstown, about six miles from Pietermaritzburg, still stand the walls of the old mission house in which Bishop Colenso, the apostle of South Africa, who was to the natives of South Africa what Eliot was to the North American Indians, taught and lived. His daughters still try to carry on his work, and the natives, who greatly love and revere them, come from far and wide to consult them in regard to their affairs.

On returning to England Miss Werner again took up her literary work. She has published "A Time and Times," a translation of Garibaldi's autobiography; "O'Driscoll's Weird and Other Stories," "The Humor of Italy," "The Captain of the Locusts and Other Stories," "Chapenga's White Man," "Zulu Exercises" and, in collaboration with Mrs. Hunt, "Elementary Lessons in Cape Dutch." Now from the press comes a new book, "The Natives of Central Africa." Much of her time is given to the classes in African languages, for the study of which there is a growing taste. ETHEL KNOX.

AN AFRICAN LINGUIST.

Miss Alice Werner, an Authority on the Native Dialects.

It is the man or woman who attempts successfully the unusual who is assured of the world's admiration and applause. Commemorative work in commonplace lines is all too plentiful. Many women study languages. Some few attain expertness enough to be teachers or even translators, but among the lingual experts there is only one bright particular star in the South African languages. This person with a gift for language and a knowledge of the chief dialects of British Africa is an Englishwoman, Miss Alice Werner, professor of Zulu in the famous King's college, London, the author of many books and the assistant editor of the African Society's Quarterly Journal.

How She Became Interested.

"I was always especially interested in Africa from a child," says Miss Werner. "I cannot tell why, because we had no personal connection with it, but of course I was fascinated by hearing about Livingstone."

She also read Stanley's books, and when at last a book on the modern languages of Africa fell into her hands she began to study it earnestly. In 1880 her brother, the late J. R. Werner, went out to Africa as an engineer in the service of the Kongo State, but two years later he was forced by illness to return home. He then wrote a book, "River Life in the Kongo." Returning to Africa, he died there in 1891. About this time Miss Harriet Colenso, daughter of the famous theologian and bishop of Natal, was in England, using her influence in behalf of the exiled Zulu chiefs, who through her agitation were liberated in 1897. Miss Werner saw a great deal of Miss Colenso. She had become interested in the native women of British Central Africa.

She Goes to Africa.

Through scientific friends in St. Andrews in 1893 it was arranged that she should go there to study the language and people. With Miss Bell, another Englishwoman, she went to Natal to start a school and mission for the natives. The ladies' nearest neighbor, W. A. Morgan, now Miss Bell's husband, was five or six miles away, yet they were never annoyed or molested by any of the natives. Finally Miss Bell who suffered from malaria, was compelled to go back to England. As it was thought unwise that one woman should remain alone at the mission station, Miss Werner went back to Blantyre, where she worked on a reading book for the use of the natives of that region, which is still used in their schools. After completing that she traveled about.

White Women In Africa.

The attitude of the African native to the white woman is best described by Miss Werner herself:

"I never met with the slightest rudeness or disrespect from the natives and do not believe that, as a rule, any woman would unless she gave them cause. His daughters still try to carry on his work, and the natives, who greatly love and revere them, come from far and wide to consult them in regard to their affairs.

On returning to England Miss Werner again took up her literary work. She has published "A Time and Times," a translation of Garibaldi's autobiography; "O'Driscoll's Weird and Other Stories," "The Humor of Italy," "The Captain of the Locusts and Other Stories," "Chapenga's White Man," "Zulu Exercises" and, in collaboration with Mrs. Hunt, "Elementary Lessons in Cape Dutch." Now from the press comes a new book, "The Natives of Central Africa." Much of her time is given to the classes in African languages, for the study of which there is a growing taste. ETHEL KNOX.

DENISON VS Y. M. C. A.

The big game is ancient history, and Denison has another salp in their belt. The Y. M. C. A. team went down to defeat in one of the prettiest games ever played on a local floor. Newark took the lead and played circles around Denison for the first ten minutes, securing a lead of 5 to 0. The Baptist boys, however, found their bearings, and evened things up pretty nicely by winning the first half (20 minutes play) by the close margin of one point. The blackboard read 16-15.

Prior played the star game in this half by holding Livingston down to 5 goals.

The second half proved very disastrous to the Y.M.C.A. men. Livingston soon put Denison way in the lead by playing the whole game himself. The actual score tallied to his own individual work resulted in 28 points.

Both teams played fast and brilliant ball. While the Newark boys had no one that could hold Livingston down, the boys played a good hard game and were there to take advantage of every opportunity that came their way.

Earle Woodward played the star game for the Y. M. C. A. boys by playing guard. He held his man down to 5 goals, securing 7 for his team.

Bell played a good hard game and assisted greatly in team work, although Rockwood held him down to a very few shots. Cullen and Ramsey played well and did some very effective work.

The local boys played well together doing fine team work, and after the way the team showed up against the strong Denison aggregation they will have little to fear from Tommie Clark and his Cleveland Nations. They are booked to meet New Year's night. Line-up:

HABIT GROWS UPON THEM

The telephone exchanges of Newark have in their employ the prettiest and most accommodating young women to be found in the city. Their duties are very arduous and hundreds of times during the day they are compelled to answer calls by informing patrons that the "line is busy," and when night comes they are dead tired, and it is a hard matter for some of them to rouse themselves in the morning. A certain young lady, who was afraid that she would oversleep, purchased a small alarm clock the other night and set it for the proper time in the morning. The little alarm clock worked all right, and the bell tinkled at the proper time, but the operator calmly rolled over and in her sleep said, "Line's busy, call again."

COUNCIL ERRED IN GRANTING ELECTRIC LIGHT FRANCHISE

On another page of today's Advocate is published the ordinance granting to George Duncan Heisey the postmaster, a franchise for the erection of an electric light and power plant in Newark.

Mr. Heisey is not ready as yet to discuss the proposition for publication, but the action of the city council in hastily passing this measure at the last meeting was very unusual.

The measure was introduced at the last meeting of the present council, was read the second and third times and was then passed under a suspension of the rules, afterwards receiving the written approval of Mayor Samuel H. McCleery.

No matter how meritorious the measure may be, the council should not rush through such an ordinance at one sitting, especially when the taxpayers of the city had no knowledge of the contemplated action.

Now-a-days franchises are believed to be worth something to the corporation or individual securing them, but in this instance, it seems, that neither the city nor the citizens receive anything more than is granted to them under the provisions by which the present light and power company is operating in this city. The price of electric current is not lowered and the city receives even fewer electric lights free than

Future Wars Will Be Fought In the Air.

By Major GEORGE O. SQUIRES, Government Aeronaut.

THE success of aerial navigation has been established, and the success of aerial navigation means the introduction of NEW AND RADICAL METHODS IN WARFARE, extended possibilities of producing decisive results by strategic movements against untenable positions rather than by the loss of human life. IT MEANS THE ULTIMATE PASSING AWAY OF WARFARE in the present sense and the eventual dawn of the era of peace. Its radical influence on the methods of warfare will compare only with the invention of gunpowder and the tactics of Frederick the Great.

The last great war was conducted strictly in line with the text books and was accompanied at times with terrific slaughter. The great object of war, however, is to bring about a DECISIVE RESULT WITH A MINIMUM DESTRUCTION OF HUMAN LIFE. If we can utilize SCIENTIFIC principles to bring about this result without killing any one a great advance will be made. We have but three military arms—infantry, artillery and cavalry. The cavalry is designed to scout and develop information, and the other arms furnish the means of using the information thus obtained.

AERIAL NAVIGATION FURNISHES AN ADDITIONAL AND MORE COMPLETE MEANS OF OBTAINING INFORMATION AND ENABLES US TO MANEUVER ARMIES BY STRATEGIC MARCHES AND SURPRISES AND BRING ABOUT DECISIVE RESULTS WITH A MINIMUM DESTRUCTION OF LIFE. TRAINED OBSERVERS CAN LEAVE A FRONTIER, SCOUT ABOUT AN ENEMY'S COUNTRY AND SECURE INFORMATION OF VITAL IMPORTANCE. ADD TO THIS THE POSSIBILITY OF AIRSHIPS DROPPING HIGH EXPLOSIVES ON A DEFENSELESS PEOPLE AND THEIR IMPORTANCE BECOMES AT ONCE APPARENT.

It is possible even now to tow a load of high explosives with a dirigible balloon and DROP the destructive load at such points as are desired. Against such an attack there is no effective resistance save by waging an AERIAL WARFARE, AIR FLEET AGAINST AIR FLEET. The possibilities are UNLIMITED, and they mean the revolutionizing of military methods with the result that decisive victories may be gained with a minimum loss of life.

is granted by the present electric light company.

The franchise permits Mr. Heisey his successors and assigns to wait two and one-half years before beginning the work of construction, and allows two years thereafter for completion of the plant. No penalty is attached to the failure of Mr. Heisey and his associates or successors to carry out the provisions of the franchise.

The city council may have apparently sufficient reason for passing this ordinance, but on the face of things, it did not. The state law should be so amended as to prevent city councils from granting franchises without first, by publication giving the taxpayers knowledge of the contemplated action. A recommendation to this effect was incorporated in the proposed municipal code prepared by Hon. Edward Kibler and Judge Pugh several years ago, but the statute has never been amended.

The people have a right to know the conditions of every franchise before it is granted to any individual firm or corporation, and without regard to the merits of the proposition the city council erred in rushing through the ordinance, and the mayor made a mistake when he signed it.

COUNTY OPTION

A Movement to Drive the Saloon From Ohio by Temperance Workers.

All temperance workers and citizens interested in civic reform will have a splendid chance to hear expounded a new movement in Ohio. One of the greatest fights of the coming Ohio legislature will be made over the question of county option, or the right to vote the state dry by counties.

Mr. L. D. Lilly, a prominent attorney of Columbus, and identified with the Anti-Saloon league, will talk to men Sunday at the Y. M. C. A. on the new issue. His subject is, "County Option—What It Will Mean to Ohio." Special music has been engaged. All voters and temperance workers are invited and urged to hear this address.

HERE AND THERE

The temperature Thursday morning at 6 o'clock was 22 degrees Fahr. The poor shopgirl is the one that is overworked at this time of the year. A part of your Christmas spirit should be to make your purchases early, for it would be a great help to those who work in the stores.

"An episode happened in a store in the city recently that shows how uncertain even an apparently sure thing is." A lady came up to a counter and took a fine hat pin out of her hat and placed it by the side of one that was shown on the counter, ostensibly to see if it would match the one she had, and upon finding out that it did not suit her, she stuck it back in her hat. Another woman who was standing close by and who did not see the hat pin taken out of the hat, saw the first lady pick it up and get away with it. Anyway, that was the way it looked. The woman of the first

TWO LESSONS IN HISTORY.

[Original.]

I was sitting in the smoking room of an Atlantic liner when I fell into conversation with an English cockney. He boasted a great deal about the desirability of a royal family, a nobility, and, above all, decreed America for having so little history behind her. He talked so offensively that I became irritated.

"We have something of a history," I said. "At least what we have is of interest. The discovery and settlement of the country, the colonial period, all teach a lesson of man's progress and hardihood. Of course to an Englishman our Revolution could not be interesting."

"That was no fight," he said. "You couldn't expect England to send troops across the ocean in those days, when there wasn't nothin' but sailin' ships. I know all about your Revolution. There wasn't but one o' the generals that was 'alf decent—that fellow Burr that turned over West Point to its rightful owners."

"Burr didn't turn over West Point to the British. Arnold did that—Benedict Arnold."

"Well, how, I fancy I know something about that as well as you. Do you suppose I haven't the education to take in a little bit of a story that don't take up a page o' the world's history? General Aaron Burr sent Major Andre with the papers."

"You mean General Arnold sent Major Andre with the papers."

"No, I don't. I mean General Aaron Burr."

A man sitting beside me turned and said to me:

"There's only one way to cure these Britishers of their conceit, and that is to give them a chance to back their opinions with their money. If you'll offer to bet him a ten dollar bill that he's wrong, he must either take you or acknowledge that he's got the thing mixed."

"A pretty fool I'd be," said the cockney, "to bet and you the only one here to hold the stakes or leave the decision to. I ain't so bloody stupid as that."

"You don't need to leave it to me," said my partisan. "Any man aboard this ship who knows anything knows that Benedict Arnold was the traitor."

"Oh, shut up! The gentleman bets you $10 you're wrong. Do you take him?"

"Yes, I'll take him, and I don't object to your holdin' the stakes, but I do object to your decidin' the bet."

My defender looked at me, with a wink, and I handed him $10, which the cockney covered.

"I'll go you another ten," said the stake holder.

"No," replied the cockney, apparently somewhat shaken by the man's confidence. "Two pound is enough to take out of a pair of greenhorns on a small thing like that."

Every man who came into the smoking room was asked who surrendered West Point—or tried to surrender it—to the British, and every man named Benedict Arnold. After four persons had thus decided the bet the cockney permitted the stake holder to turn over the money to me, which he did, to the cockney's apparent discomfiture. He was surly about it and vowed he'd get even with me before the end of the voyage. I was dissatisfied with myself for being led into taking the fellow's money, but the man who suggested the bet said it served him right and would teach him that there was American history, after all.

The evening before we reached port the cockney came to me with a novel bet on English history. He offered to bet me $50 that I couldn't name the kings and queens of England from Henry VIII. to Charles II., I to forfeit $100 for every error I made. Of course the forfeits were to my disadvantage, but there should be big odds in my opponent's favor. I couldn't very well decline to give the man his revenge, especially as he seemed very anxious for it, he offering to leave both the stakes and the decision to the man who had served as stake holder before.

This person came up while we were talking, and I could hardly refuse. We each deposited $50 and I an additional $200 for two possible errors, which were to be the limit paid for. I was to write out my statement and hand it to the stake holder. This I did from memory, since I had no books for reference. I named Edward VI., Mary, Elizabeth, James I., James II., Charles I., Charles II. and Cromwell as de facto king.

The decision of the referee was delayed till late at night; then it was handed me, written out on paper. It ran thus:

Lady Jane Grey, proclaimed queen, omitted Cromwell, never proclaimed king and not so yled, put in. You lose the bet, $50, and pay forfeit for the two above errors, in all $250.

I saw no more of the cockney nor the friend who had so sympathetically seconded me in my first bet till the next morning, when I noticed them going down the gangplank arm in arm, laughing and chatting together, doubtless over the clever manner in which they had done me out of a balance of $240.

A year after I saw an account of the arrest of two Connecticut Yankees who made it their business to travel on ocean liners and do innocent lumps. Their descriptions tallied with the men who had done me, and when they were tried I went to court to see them. As I expected, they were the cockney and the man who had induced me to teach him a lesson in American history. They were convicted and sent up for some years. I nodded to them as they were led past me out of court, but received only a stare in return.

FIRST ACT OF HOBSON IN CONGRESS

WAS THE INTRODUCTION OF A PEACE RESOLUTION

MAKES MAIDEN SPEECH

Advocating the Granting of Jurisdiction to International Arbitration Court at The Hague.

Washington, Dec. 19.—The first public act of Captain Richmond Pearson Hobson, of Alabama, since he became a member of the House of Representatives, was his introduction today of a resolution for the promotion of peace among the nations of the world. He asked that Congress adopt the policy that general treaties of arbitration should be negotiated by the United States with all nations, granting jurisdiction to the international court at The Hague, over as many classes of controversies as the other contracting power in each case can be induced to transfer from the field of war.

He would have Congress go further and advocate persistently the establishment of a permanent international congress to assemble periodically and automatically to suggest such changes in the law of nations and the method of its administration as the current event may make desirable and practical.

For the prosperity and the peace of our people and the people of other countries, said Captain Hobson in introducing the resolution.

Charles Swickard, the telephone lineman, who had such a narrow escape from electrocution Wednesday and who was taken to the Newark Sanitarium, left that institution the same evening, going to the boarding house of his brother, Lovell, on West Main street. The young man had not entirely recovered from the terrible ordeal by any means but was anxious to be with his brother. If no complications set in and if he does not catch cold in the injured hand which was so badly burned, he will probably leave for his home at Westerville within a few days. Mr. Swickard is to be congratulated upon his narrow escape from death, his splendid constitution withstanding the severe electric shock, which in a person more frail would undoubtedly have resulted fatally.

pretty good to him. A half dozen teams were on the pitcher's trail and it was a toss-up as to who would get him when the drafts were put in. Toledo was lucky and Asher comes here. He is now on the Pacific coast where he is doing some pitching for the Los Angeles team. He will come back east shortly after the holidays.

A CLEVELAND VIEW.
If the national baseball commission fails to split up the O. P. league, Newark and its side partner, Zanesville, may hold the deciding hand. If the eastern clubs find their appeal to the national commission good for nothing, then Newark, by breaking away from Lancaster, Mansfield and Marion will hold the hand which will permit the eastern clubs to shake at least three of the towns which they deem undesirable.

It is thought that while the eastern clubs desire secession from the western division they would listen to a desirable compromise rather than play independent ball. Just now Newark has a hunch that if Zanesville is admitted to the O. P. the fold might possibly join forces with the eastern teams.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

UPP MUST PAY UP.
At Warren yesterday the request of Mrs. May Upp for alimony was granted and the Columbus pitching star of last season will find it necessary to remit. Upp, wintering at Sandusky, is said to be singing in a moving picture show house.

ZANESVILLE QUITS P. O. M. LEAGUE

A dispatch from Zanesville states that a meeting of the board of directors of the baseball company of that city held Wednesday afternoon the P. O. M. league was notified that Zanesville dropped its franchise in that organization.

This proposition it is stated was taken after a proposition agreeable to the local club had been made by officials of the Central league to give Zanesville a berth in that organization.

The dropping out of the P. O. M. by Zanesville means that they are going to get into a faster and better league but its dollars to doughnuts that no action will be taken by the Potters' until after the meeting of the O. and P. league in Cleveland.

ORPHIUM THEATER.
The show at the Orphium this week talks for itself, being first class from start to finish. The feature is Cora Swain and her troupe of trained cockatoos, an act that is a head liner on any bill. The bird with the human brain alone is worth going a long way to see. The Bradys, travesty artists, have a skit that is full of life and comedy, and dressed most pleasingly. Fox and Fox in an upside down Irish comedy sketch, are more than making good, especially Mr. Fox's wonderful dancing on his hands. Kippy the comedy cartoonist, pleases with his monologue and sketch.

The illustrated song and moving pictures are both up to the standard. Tickets on sale all day at the box office. Amateurs report before Friday night.

DOPE FOR FANS

Two new players have been signed by Jack Breckenridge for the Akron club for next season. Dan Ludlow, catcher, of Harrisburg, Pa., and Bob Kling, a pitcher of Royalton, Pa., have affixed their signatures to Akron contracts and are expected to make good.

President Morton has close to 100 applicants for positions on his umpiring staff next season and they are still coming, two being added to the list Wednesday. Morton has not made an appointment as yet, and will not do so until after the Cleveland meeting next month.

The O. P. league has several good players last season and some more will undoubtedly be experienced before their places are refilled.

Jack Breckenridge, Akron's pitcher, wants to play infield next year. Breck signed to play infield last spring, but failed to make good. He was tried at short. Breckenridge would like to quit pitching.

Jack Hardy is tied for third place in the rank of Southern league pitchers. In 92 games Hardy hit 312. Year before last Sharon released Hardy. Next year he goes to Brooklyn.

Dicky James at one time shortstop for Youngstown, hit .270 for the Memphis Southern league club. He played in 70 games. Baltimore caught Dicky before he went south.

Stenberville announces that it will stick to the P. O. M. league.

Browne and Dahlen express satisfaction at being traded to Boston. They were tired of McGraw and New York.

Mike Kelley ought to be as successful at the head of the Toronto club as Joe Kelley was. Mike sounds more so.

Pittsburg has sold Tommy Sheehan to the Brooklyn club. He will play third base so it is not likely that Manager Donovan will purchase Dick Brown from Cleveland.

"We are going to try to break a world's record," said Mr. Bryce of the Columbus club, "by winning our fourth straight championship next year. No team has ever won more than three flags in succession, and we hope to furnish the world's record breaker."

Zanesville is dippy over polo. Even the girls have the fever and are organizing a girls' polo team. It is the intention to form two teams composed of girls and have them play before the regular games. There's sport for you.

Charles Luskey of Marion, who led the O. P. backstops last season, may play winter baseball in Mexico. He was tipped off to a Mexico team by a Marion newspaper man who has many acquaintances in the City of Mexico.

Regarding the candidacy of Bill Bernhard, as manager of the Akron team, the Cleveland Press says:

One of the well authenticated rumors that comes out of the Chicago meeting is that Pitcher Bill Bernhard of the Cleveland team will manage the Akron team of the O. P. league next season.

The Cleveland club leaders are in a mood to discuss the report by the close business relations as well as the personal friendship existing between Charley Somers of the Cleveland and President H. H. Gibbs of the Akron club, gives color to the story.

President Gibbs of Akron and Vice President Somers of the Naps are old business and social friends. Mr. Gibbs is a wealthy Akron manufacturer and the Cleveland club official is a coal dealer. Mr. Gibbs, it is related, bought the first car of coal Somers sold and has done business with him ever since.

AND HE FINDS THEM ALSO.
Manager Bob Berryhill writes Newark directors he has picked up a number of fast youngsters for next season. Bob usually spends the cold season scouting around in the fall and uncut, unearthing phenoms for their debut when the flowers bloom.—Mansfield Shield.

BIG EDDIE GETS A TOLEDO JOLEY
President Armour is placing a lot of reliance in Ed Asher's ability to make good next year, says the Toledo News-Bee. The O. P. flinger certainly made a wonderful record last season and if he can come anywhere near this mark in the American association, he will be a star of the first magnitude.

Asher is a big fellow with a lot of steam, and can burn 'em over when he is working well. Bill Armour had been tipped off on Asher long before he went on the scouting trip in the fall, but the local manager wanted a good look before he put any money into the slaban.

Bill saw him perform in several games and decided that Asher looked

DAY'S BUSINESS IN COURT HOUSE

Exceptions Filed.
Joseph B. Wilson, by his attorneys Kibler & Montgomery, has filed exceptions to the inventory of the late James P. Wilson, deceased, of Granville. He charges that the executors and especially the executor, Frank Wilson, have failed to inventory notes to the amount of $14,000, property belonging to the estate.

Taking Depositions.
Attorney Charles Montgomery is engaged in taking depositions in Mansfield and Loudonville. The action is one brought in Kansas City and contests the will of the late John C. Larwell, whose affairs have been in litigation in this and other counties of Ohio and in Missouri for some years. Kibler & Montgomery represent the legatees and devisees under the will.

In Common Pleas.
The case of Stella Stone vs. Sylvanus Stone was to be heard today in Common Pleas court, being an action for alimony, but when the court convened the parties got together and a judgment of dismissal of the proceedings was entered. An action for divorce between the parties is still pending in the Probate court. Smythe & Smythe; Fitzgerald.

Application For Guardian.
Application was made in the Probate court for the appointment of a guardian for Henrietta Looker, of Etna township, on the ground that she is an imbecile. Mrs. Looker is a daughter of Francis Mazein, is aged about 27 years and is the wife of Mr. William Looker. The application was made by two sisters of Mrs. Looker, Belle Richardson and Mary Devell. They claim that Mrs. Looker has property valued at $2000 and a house and lot in Etna valued at $1200. The application, which was set for a hearing on Thursday morning at 10 o'clock, was continued until next Thursday morning at 9 o'clock. The application will be contested.

TO SAVE LA BAHIA MISSION.

Movement on Foot For State to Buy Historic Texas Building.

The ancient La Bahia mission building, situated near Goliad, Tex., is to be rehabilitated and preserved if the movement succeeds which has been started among patriotic Texans with those purposes in view, says the Kansas City Star. In this ancient building on May 7, 1836, 300 men under command of Colonel Fannin were massacred by a large force of Mexicans at Santa Anna's orders. The walls of the church were stained with the blood of the men who were striving to gain their country's liberty from Mexico. The news of this massacre aroused the Texans and gave them the frenzied courage which soon afterward resulted in the overwhelming defeat of Santa Anna's army and capture of the Mexican commander, whose life was saved only through the timely interference of General Sam Houston.

In all the years that have passed since that massacre, during the period since that Texas was a republic and since that Texas was a state, the historic edifice has remained uncared for except for such little attention as was shown it by the few poor but devout Mexican worshippers who gathered at its altar on Sundays and the various saints' days.

The movement now on foot seeks to have the state purchase La Bahia mission from those who claim title to it and to permit it to be cared for by the Daughters of the Texas Republic, as the historic Alamo building now is. Owing to its remote location comparatively few people visit La Bahia mission. Those who enter the building first must pay a fee to the Mexican who is in charge of the place. The interior of the mission edifice is much the same as it was when the massacre left the walls bespattered with blood more than seventy years ago.

In north Germany a person must not spin during the twelve nights of Christmas lest he or she should walk after death, nor after sunset on Saturday, for then mice will eat the work. If it is desired to have money and luck all the year round, one must not fail to eat herrings on New Year's day, nor if you wish to be lucky must you rock an empty cradle or spill salt wantonly or cross knives or point at the stars. If a dirty cloth is left on the table over Christmas night it will make the angels weep, if you point upward to the rainbow it will make the angels' feet bleed, and if you talk of cabbage while looking at the moon you will hurt the feelings of the man in it.—Tit-Bits.

In Saxon Times.
In Norman and Saxon times an ox was always roasted whole over the Yule log at Christmas.

Limit on Student Marriages.
The Peking government, according to the Shanghai Mercury, has decided to limit the marriage of students, and unless a student is a graduate of a middle school and past the age of twenty years he will not be permitted to get married.

Before Christmas.
Mary had a little hint,
What she would like, you know,
And everywhere that Mary went
The hint was sure to go.

DR. R. T. RAGSDALE GOES TO CHICAGO WITH HIS FAMILY

R. T. Ragdale, who has been manager of the Newark Sanitarium for the past few years, will leave this evening for Chicago his wife and baby daughter having preceded him several days ago. In company with Manager Hoyt of the DeLancey Sanitarium, they have leased what formerly was known as the Chicago branch of the Battle Creek Sanitarium and will operate it in the future, both gentlemen having disposed of their interests in the DeLancey institution.

The management of the Newark Sanitarium has been placed in the hands of James Montgomery, who has had considerable experience in that line of work and formerly managed a like institution at Terre Haute, Ind. He is thoroughly competent and will endeavor to maintain the high efficiency enjoyed by the Newark Sanitarium. Mrs. Montgomery, a trained nurse of ability, will act as matron.

STANDARD MODES.

Fabrics and Colors Seen in the New Winter Gowns.

Looking backward to the styles of other days, it is surprising to see how nearly we follow them—above all, the enormous creations when ships under full sail and regular tower gardens were among the modes for hats. Today, while the hats are not quite as daring in the way of trimming, they are enough so to make us "sit up and take notice." In Paris the women do not take off their hats in the theater, and I will leave it to the imagination as to how much of a play could be seen by those who sit in the orchestra seats. Such an array of plumes and such a variety I never saw before—chicken feathers dyed and made up into all sorts of shaped plumes, turkey feathers shamelessly natural in some instances and dyed in others, wings, birds of prophetic portents, heron plumes, marabou and, indeed, so many that I cannot remember them all in one day.

The willow form is rather the best liked, and willow means all plumes, either made or natural, which droop down in a very melancholy fashion. We may say now, speaking of millinery, the plume is the thing—purple in seventeen shades, green of the emerald hue and other vivid shades of all colors. It is astonishing what foolish things women will wear if they happen to be the fashion. A few years ago the colors, raw and uncompromising, that are now shown would have created a mild riot, but now it is to see who can find the most striking. Still, it must be admitted that women never have looked prettier than now, for they have come to know their own failings and good points better than they ever did before, and so, although they dress in the vivid colors now in fashion, they manage to look quite as well as ever.

But in spite of the brilliancy of most of the things now in vogue there are many very beautiful and yet more delicate colors or at least shades of the colors offered. Among them I see on the syndicate color card, which is of course the one authority, Havana, Java and mordore as well as seal browns, royal and navy blues, moss, olive, myrtle and reseda green, cardinal, crimson and burgundy reds, suede, mold gray, stone, smoke gray, cream, biscuit and white. All of these are found among the finest of broadcloths, which may be said to be the best of the outdoor goods, and running a close race with broadcloth is the velveta. This makes up into handsome garments of all kinds and comes in all colors and shades, while some of it is made into what might be classed as novelty goods by means of silvered printing and stripes.

Sec. 6. That the bonds of the City of Newark, State of Ohio, shall be issued in anticipation of the collection of assessments by installments and in an amount equal thereto. That the remainder of the entire cost of said improvement not specially assessed, including the cost of intersections, together with the cost of any other work or material, or appropriated and the cost and expense of the appropriation proceeding therefor, and the damages awarded any owner of adjoining lands and interests thereon, and the cost and expense of any award shall be paid by the issuance of bonds in the manner provided by law.

And Cranium Manipulators, When Student's Girl Wanted Him to Wear Pompadour.

Granville, O., Dec. 19.—Duke N. Blacet of Painesville, a member of the Freshman class of Denison university was captured by students and given a hair cut. This week Blacet, it is said, received a letter from his girl saying, "If you love me wear your hair pompadour." When the students learned of this they determined to chop off Blacet's pompadour which they did to perfection.

Many were present when on Wednesday evening at 7:30 the Calliopean Literary society of Denison produced Goldsmith's "She Stoops to Conquer." This is the first play of the kind undertaken by the boys and was a grand success. The time and labor of the boys in preparing this play is clearly shown by the effect produced, which was certainly pleasing and entertaining from all standpoints. The boys were coached by Dr. King during his short stay in Granville a few weeks ago. The remainder of the time Victor Hoppe, who took the part of Mr. Hardcastle, filled the position as director. Mr. Hoppe showed marked ability and impersonation as did Paul Alexander who took the part of Miss Neville, and R. Dean Hart as Miss Hardcastle. The play was furnished between the acts by the college orchestra, which was led by Mr. Orley See. Following was the cast:

Sir Charles Marlow—C. E. Brown (Blue).
Young Marlow—Linn W. Hattersley.
Hardcastle—Joseph H. Lloyd.
Tony Lumpkin—L. D. Sargent.
Hastings—Clarence W. Kemper.
Stingo (Landlord)—Theodore S. Johnson.

Digby—Theodore S. Johnson.
Roger—Charles J. Stillwell.
Mat Muggins—C. E. Brown (Red).
Jack Slang—Tom D. Allan.
Ralph—Ray E. Carman.
Miss Hardcastle—J. Dean Hart.
Miss Neville—Paul Wm. Alexander.
Maid—J. Howard Maloney.
Mrs. Hardcastle—V. H. Hoppe.
Bar-room Rowdy—M. L. Lowery.
A. M. Wilson, L. K. Wilson.
Waiter—Oscar Arnold.

A good deal of interest was shown in the recent art exhibition which was given under the auspices of Miss Parsons and her pupils. Specimens of handiwork were exhibited which were in themselves testimony to the highest skill. Among them were beautiful designs in leatherwork, china, copper, burntwood, painting and sketching. Those who were present complimented Miss Parsons and her students highly upon the execution of very difficult pieces with the rarest of taste and finest of finish.

At the recent meeting of the Cicero Literary society the following officers were elected: President, Edgar Vay-bright; vice president, George B. Williams; corresponding secretary, G. F. AMUSEMENTS

AN ELABORATE PRODUCTION OF FAUST

The beginning of the first act shows us Faust and Mephisto tollfully climbing the steep rocks and yawning chasms of the peak of the Brocken, in the Hartz mountains, where, according to the German legend, the Witches and Warlocks meet on Walpurgis night (the 13th of April) to hold their yearly festivities.

Oh! Mother, Mother of all mourners help me, save me from shame, misery and death.

The night grows darker and darker; the moon is in its last quarter and gives but little light. They climb higher and higher; the trees and rocks and distant cliffs take on wondrously fantastic shapes in the dim light of the dying moon; only the hooting of owls and the far away cry of the lonely night hawk breaks the solemn stillness; strange shapes crawl to and fro, and weird snake-like forms seem to writhe and try to clasp the wanderers in their horrible embrace. At midnight a mighty tempest rises and the witches gain from far and near to their unholy festival. During the truly horrid scene that follows Mephisto shows Faust the never failing "Punishment of Evil," and the curtain falls with terror-stricken Faust writhing in the

The deeds of Doan's Kidney Pills. For Newark, kidney sufferers, Have made their local reputation. Proof lies in the testimony of Newark people who have been cured to stay cured.

Charles W. Manville, residing at 7 Lansing Block, Newark, Ohio, says: "I had a severe attack of grippe which weakened my kidneys and as a result I suffered from pains in my back and a disordered condition of my kidney secretions. There was a constant dull aching in my back and through my loins, accompanied by sharp shooting twinges which annoyed me both day and night. I tried numerous remedies but obtained only temporary relief and was gradually becoming run down in health. Hearing of Doan's Kidney Pills I procured a box at Crayton's drug store, began using them and the result was a complete cure." (From statement given Nov. 10, 1904.)
